Not Quite Top-Tier but Close
 20 Dec 2014

With nicely appointed and large rooms in the World Center region, this hotel is reasonably priced only if you consider the location. Similar accommodations a bit farther to the South of Sao Paulo come in at close to half the price, but as they say in real estate - location is everything. Only a few steps from the World Trade Center, it is a very reasonable alternative at a significantly lower price than the Sheraton next door, so unless the name of the hotel is meant to impress someone, stay here. Very secure, with all on-site amenities and ample food selections in the shopping center next door, it is a good choice if this area is where you need to be. If location doesn't matter, save 40-50% and book elsewhere.

Poor, ugly, not clean, ham & cheese sandwich very bad...

●○○○○○ 23 Sep 2014

I got really disappointed from trip advisor reviews, it is really very hard to understand how can someone rate this hotel as amazing. First time it happened to me, the hotel definitely a bad one, outdated, very poor, furniture old and very bad condition, carpet dirty, AC noisy, bed clothing bad, in summary this is not just a review of this bad experience, but a review for tripadvisor.

Los, dirty and expensive!

●○○○○○ 4 Sep 2014

THE hotel room was dirty, full of carpet spots on it. Gym was poor lacking all of equipments. Breakfast is very poor not to many options. No value for the money at all! Try another options nearby even if they are more expensive.

Convenient Hotel near WTC area but not much nearby

●○○○○○ 7 Jul 2014

I stayed here on business for an extended week due to business in the area. The hotel was close enough to be where I was doing business that I could walk.

I will start off by saying that I did not speak Portuguese and while the hotel staff did speak English, it was difficult to communicate overall.

The check in was fairly easy, although I arrived early in the day and they didn't point out that there was an early check in fee.

The room I was given, was by the fitness center and while I could have requested to move during my stay, I never found that to be a significant issue, except the one morning when someone felt it necessary to slam the weights down. I had no complaints about the room, it was clean, the AC worked, and the facilities were all in order. The streets around were not busy and the street noise was generally minor. There is a neighborhood gym across the street which was noisy during the weekend but not bad the rest of the time.

The major complaint was the internet, which was mentioned by other travelers. It was generally very slow. There were a some periods when the service was good, some were it was very bad and the remainder of the time, just good enough.

There location was OK for me, since I was doing business next door but the location was not ideal. There was a mall next door, but was primarily furniture and housewares which had a few restaurants. Other than that, there wasn't much in the area. The Morumbi Mall is not far away and could be reached by taxi if needed.

I ate several times at the restaurant. They breakfast was the same every day and offered a wide selection of choices. They also offered a buffet lunch which had wide selection. For dinner, the menu offered a good selection. I found as a single traveler that the portions for all the options were large so if you ordered a starter (salad/soup/appetizer) and a main course, that it was too much. It would have been nice to have a starter portion size.

Dear Guest,

Thank you very much for choosing our hotel for your stay in São Paulo, and for taking the time to register your experience with us.

We are very glad that you enjoyed your stay, and we take this opportunity to apologize for the instability with the Internet service during your stay. We are taking the necessary measures to prevent it from happening again.

We hope to have your trust, and to host you again at our hotel.

To be avoided if possible..

●●●●● 11 Apr 2014

Old, not clean, gymnasium ridiculous with air conditioning not working, stinky bathroom, dirty carpet, all this for a ridiculously expensive rate. I almost forgot: useless internet, too slow to check emails most of the time.

ggeralqbe, Gerente geral at Quality Hotel Berrini, responded to this review

Dear Guest,

We are very sorry for all the inconveniences during your stay with us. We would like to assure you that we are taking the necessary measures to avoid such troubles in the future.

Unfortunately we do not have a larger area in order to expand out fitness center, but we are analyzing some options to make it a more pleasant area.

Thank you for your comments, which have been treated by our quality department as an opportunity of improvement.
